Janet R. Kelly, M.D. of Heber City, Utah, was born February 14, 1947, in Omaha, Nebraska, to James and Ruth Nelson Kelly. Janet has an older brother, Steve, who is a Lutheran minister in California. Her father was a geologist for Milwaukee rail road, and her mother taught school. Janet's parents had been passing through Omaha when Janet was born, but their home was in Fremont, Nebraska. They lived in Fremont until Janet was quite a big girl before the family moved to Palatine, on the outskirts of Chicago. Janet graduated from Palatine High School in 1965. She had been active in the science club; drama club; and served on the student council.

From high school she went to Carroll College in Waukesha, Wisconsin, where she majored in biology, with a minor in chemistry.

While there, she was in the biology club and the drama club. For one month in the last year of college, she and a group of students spent a month in Jamaica studying marine biology. With no major protesting, Janet graduated Cum-Laude in 1969 with a B.S. degree.

Upon graduation from college, she had three scholarships offered, one was to study marine biology in Florida, another was to study desert ecology in Arizona, and the third was to attend a medical school in Chicago. As she had always been interested in medicine, Janet chose that study.

She moved from Wisconsin to a residence near the medical school of the University of Illinois, in Chicago. She graduated in 1973. With the exception of four months spent in San Francisco while studying psychology, she spent her time studying in Chicago; she graduated in 1973 with an M.D. degree.

The next three years were spent in attendance to her studies and work as a resident with the "Family Practice Program" at the University of Oklahoma. During her last year there, she was Chief Resident.

I asked Dr. Janet R. Kelly about the "Family Practice Program" and she explained that a few years ago, it was decided that "General Practice" training was not quite all one needed, so an additional three years of training was added and the title "Family Practice Program" would be added to ones credits.

While living in Oklahoma, Janet felt the need to have other activities so she bought a five acre farm with a house on it. She had a half acre fenced off for a large garden which she planted and cared for; she raised horses, goats, chickens and dogs. Eventually, she had her own goat farm and fruit orchard in which she planted two of every fruit tree recommended for that area, and she remodeled the house to fit her needs. After the house and property were in good shape, she went skiing at Purgatory Ski Resort. She met Tracy Lane at the resort and some of the Methodist church group with whom he was skiing. They enjoyed the outing. Tracy was born and raised in Oklahoma and they had a lot of interests in common; the friendship developed and about a year later they were married in 1979.

Tracy had studied computers and had become a computer analyst for a large company in Oklahoma City. Before marriage he had been a speed-boat operator, but he gave that up as it was too dangerous now that he was married.

Their first child, Katie, was born in 1980 while they still lived in Oklahoma. As both Janet and Tracy liked skiing and camping; they started looking for another place to make their home, one where they could enjoy these interests and raise the animals they loved.

They sold their property in Oklahoma and bought the old Don Barker property on Old Mill Road, east of Heber City in 1980. Tracy had a position with a large company in the Salt Lake area, as a computer analyst, and Janet took on a faculty position in the Family Practice Department of the University of Utah. They commuted to their work from their farm in Heber Valley. During that time she became acquainted with the Heber hospital and the hospital staff. By the time she established her office at 570 East Center Street, near the hospital in November of 1983, the transition to her own place was smoothly accomplished, and her practice has grown.

They still garden, raise horses and enjoy the camping, hiking and the skiing and are very happy living here in the valley. They are looking forward to the time their daughter Katie, now three years old, and their son Darin, born in 1982, can go with them on all their excursions.

It should be explained that though Dr. Janet R. Kelly is the wife of Tracy Lane, she has decided to retain her maiden name in her practice, as all of her medical degrees had been awarded before her marriage.

We are happy to have this family in our community and wish them a happy life.
